

And so the

In 1929 local businessman Martin Kuhar deeded an area of land along the Cottonwood River to the City of Lamberton. Mr. Kuhar meant for this park to be a place for gathering, fun and relaxation. He did not want this donated land to be used for any commercial purposes. Even though the park area is located outside the city limits the city agreed to accept the park land and maintain the park in perpetuity. The dam across the Cottonwood River was originally built around 1930 to provide a swimming area on the river. The swimming area was closed when the city built a swimming pool in the 1960's.

Kuhar Park is ideally located for local citizens and travelers alike. The park is located alongside Redwood County Highway #6, one half mile north of U.S. Highway #14 at 13494 County Highway 6. The parks 23.89 acres lie within the floodplain of the Cottonwood River; therefore, the topography is basically flat. The park is a frequent stopping point as a rest area and overnight camping area for tourist and travelers. Many family reunions and picnics are held at Kuhar each summer.

There are ten camping sites situated along the main park road. The camping sites include concrete pads, water and electrical connections. There are three picnic shelters in the park. A nine-hole frisbee golf course is available. A public water access was added to the park in 2016 for people to enjoy. Redwood County has also provided a bicycle path from U.S. Highway #14 to the park.
